via waipu tv channels are to be received, which are not to be received via sat or cable. A plugin to add waipu as an iptv source would be awesome.

Not what tvheadend does.

If there is a way to get the video (with something like streamlink), you can use the pipe-handler, but "native" support for crappy (drm protected, no api whatsoever) websites, not gonna happen...

Support for Widevine would be a good idea atleast like Kodi does so i can't see any problem with that. It's similar with support for CA modules etc for encrypted channels.
