Description
Hi there, it looks like that at least "Automatically map EPG source" and "Automatically name from network" channels options are overwritten. I don't know why, I don't know how, but I've updated multiples times some of these configurations and when I come back (after a restart, after some days ?) I'm back in the original state. Is there something that could explain this behaviour or this is a bug? version: HTS Tvheadend 4.3~221c29b, synology steps to reproduce: from configuration &gt; channels/EPG &gt; channels, select some channels, click edit: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- uncheck "Automatically map EPG source" and "Automatically name from network".</li><li>- check the checkbox to apply them</li><li>- click save</li></ul> =&gt; on the channel list, the options are unchecked for the selected channels. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- apply some updates in channels names</li><li>- apply some updates in the EPG sources</li><li>- click save</li></ul> =&gt; no more red marks on the updated fields <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- after some times, the original names are back, mapped epg sources have been updated and options are check back</li></ul>
